

The Shirley Greenberg Chair is designed to strengthen teaching, research and administration with respect to feminist perspectives on the law. It is also designed to maintain and foster links between women in the legal academy and women in the legal profession.

This one-year scholarship, valued at $10,000, will be offered to an outstanding LLM or PhD candidate who is pursuing graduate studies in law with a focus on feminist analysis of law and/or advancing women's equality. Visit the Shirley Greenberg Chair for more information

Eligibility Criteria

The applicant must:

1. Admitted as a full-time student in the LL.M. or PhD in Law program at Faculty of Law of the University of Ottawa;
2. Demonstrate that the proposed research project with respect to feminist perspectives on the law;
3. Demonstrate academic achievement.

Value of award

$10,000

Number of awards

One

Level or program of study

Graduate (LL.M. or PhD at the University of Ottawa)

APPLICATION PROCEDURE

Applications must be sent to the Graduate Studies in Law, by email to llmphd@uOttawa.ca and should include:

1. Curriculum Vitae;
2. The applicant's research proposal (2-5 pages);
3. One letter of support from an academic source;
4. A personal statement from the applicant detailing why he/she is applying to the scholarship;
5. A copy of the applicant's academic transcript.

Application Deadline

October 15th

Application Contact

For more information on the admissions process or the scholarship application procedure, please contact the Graduate Studies in Law office at llmphd@uottawa.ca.